DEMONSTRATING SAFETY FUEL.

When you shut off your motor while the tank is being filled, you often think of the inflammable nature of motor fuel. In the near-future perhaps science may do something to change the nature of the fluid which goes into your gas tank. Already engineers have been demonstrating a new safety automotive fuel, and interesting results were observed by a committee of the Society of Automotive Engineers when they visited the Rayway refinery of the Standard Oil Co. in New Jersey recently. This new fuel, which is a product of the hydrogenation process, is not inflammable under ordinary atmospheric temperatures and pressures.

THE PROPER USE OF SPEED.

Some motor car owners see no reason for making fast, as if they can not be driven fast; but experts explain the matter very simply. To have a satisfactory cruising speed, an automobile must have a high top speed; but to drive much above the cruising speed is neither economical nor sensible. Those who misunderstand the performance characteristics of modern autos are the ones who are getting into trouble with the authorities. Speeding in defiance of safety is just a bad habit that is in nowise explained by the present day high available capabilities.

"Ohello O!"

One of the chief outdoor sports in the Stony and nearby districts has been the removal of telephones from the homes of rural subscribers; and in some cases where no phones were left on a branch line, the removal of the poles and wires on that branch.

The inability of rural subscribers to get a reduction in the rates on their phones has apparently had the effect of obliging those farmers who felt they could not afford the luxury of having a $30 a year utility in their homes, to get rid of what has hitherto been considered a very convenient service.

When the telephone repair gang came out here, following the last big storm of April 17, the combined work of re-installing the lines blown over and eliminating the not-wanted services was commenced. In the one stretch alone, that on Meridian road, along the John Schulz farm, some fourteen miles of wire was eliminated when this mile section was reconstructed.

It is estimated that, of the 225 rural subscribers whose lines centred at the local exchange, and which were in operation early in 1931, there is left but approximately 60 odd subscribers at the present time.

The yard at the local phone exchange is said to be filled with these poles, and the office has a large supply on hand of these returned phone boxes. Mr Arthur Bryant, the telephone department's "trouble-shooter" for this district, has had this work in hand.

The local phone exchange, which had nine main branches running out from it some time ago, now finds itself reduced to approximately three.

Edmonton Beach.

Mr Jack Barrie, proprietor of Edmonton Beach, who had been wintering in Edmonton, moved out last week to his popular summer resort, and is now planning some big improvements there.

The dance pavilion, which has proved so very popular a place for the beach patrons and cottagers, is to be enlarged and a number of improvements made to it, bringing it right up to date.

The refreshment bar and ice cream parlor are to be moved further back and enlarged, to accommodate the many demands made on them on the big days at the Beach.

Preparations have already begun for the big opening on Victoria Day, Tuesday, May 24th. All the amusements will be open on that date. The day's celebration will be brought to a close by a big dance in the Pavilion, where an orchestra from Edmonton will provide the music.

All that's needed is good weather, to make the opening day a big success.

Balancing Life's Budget.

With the problem of balancing budgets occupying the minds of all people entrusted with the duties and responsibilities of government whether in the Federal, Provincial or municipal fields; with the same problem uppermost in the minds of the executives of all our large transportation systems, industrial enterprises and financial institutions; with every business man, big and little, every head of a family on salary or earning wages, even men and women out of employment, all engaged with the same problem, the thought intrudes itself: "Are people, individually and collectively, more concerned with the dollar-and-cents balancing of their material budgets than they are with the much more important balancing of their lives?"

It is important, of course, vitally necessary in fact, that people should balance their material budgets. If they do not, bankruptcy in business and financial disaster lies ahead. No individual, no corporation, no government, no nation, can go on indefinitely spending more money than they receive or have. Monetary budgets must be balanced; trade budgets must be balanced, that is, inasmuch as every import is likewise an export, and every export an import, these must balance, and if every nation insists on developing exports while refusing to receive imports, the world's economic structure is thrown out of balance and bankruptcy leading to disaster and ruin is inevitable.

But it is equally true, and a law of nature that cannot be ignored and dare not be defied without loss and suffering, that the budget of our very lives must be balanced. But inasmuch as disaster may not follow quite so quickly, and the payment of the penalty may be longer deferred, than is true in the financial world, most people neglect to properly balance their lives until it is too late.

In the struggle for material wealth, for success in business, for supremacy in political life, for victory in the field of sport, even to reach the top of the social ladder, what a vast number of people overlook and neglect the all-important asset of maintaining their physical health. Failing to do so, their lives are sadly out of balance, for of what avail is the accomplishment of their desires if the price to be paid is impairment in health, bodily vigor and strength undiminished? Achievement at such a price is too costly, and is, in fact, not achievement at all, but failure, because one cannot enjoy or long retain what it has seemingly been achieved.

How frequently has it happened that a brilliant student aiming at high marks and academic honors through too close application to his or her studies, and the burning of the midnight oil, has so supplanted both mental and physical strength that in the crowning hour of learning achieved, and apparently with a life of great promise just beginning, collapse has come.

Others in the race for material things utterly fail to balance the budget of their lives by any intellectual pursuits or pursuits. They fail to balance their lives with the beauties of nature, or music, or good literature. They even neglect the taking of proper exercise and recreation. As a result of their unbalanced lives they become groggy, self-centred, utterly selfish, and largely lost to all the finer things of life.

Man is a dual personality. A combination of body and spirit. If his life's budget is to balance, he must devote attention both to his body and its needs and to the development of mind and spirit. He cannot afford to neglect either the one or the other; neglect of one means not only that it will suffer but the other will also suffer.

The balancing of life's budget calls for an all-round development of body and of spirit, and of the mind which is partly of the body and partly of the spirit. A man may soar at religion, he may profess to have no religion, but in so doing he merely advertises the unbalanced character of his life. He is less than a complete man. A man may be perfect physically, but if he neglects his mind and his spirit, he is merely a high type of animal. On the other hand, one who neglects his body and develops his mental powers to the exclusion of all else, is a freak, and even his mental powers become distorted and unreliable because he lacks the necessary contact with and appreciation of natural human forces.

It is only through a true balancing of life's budget that man can possibly reach his highest destiny of happiness, achievement and usefulness in this world.

Would Train Nurses For Mental Hospital Work

Alberta Psychiatrist, Speaks Of Success In Treating Mental Cases

Combined training courses for graduate nurses, which would include as well as general hospital training a considerable amount of mental training was suggested by Dr. N. Barager, Alberta psychiatrist, as one of the solutions to the present mental health problem at the recent session of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses Convention.

The mental hospital nurse needs general training plus tact and good judgment to the nth degree, he declared.

Readjustment of the public viewpoint to the mental case, which is gradually taking place, is one of the greatest needs in dealing with the care of such patients, he said. It must be understood the patient is ill, as is the patient in the general hospital.

Dr. Barager spoke of the 25,000 patients in mental hospitals and 6,000 in mentally defective institutions in Canada. The age-old idea of the insane person entering the hospital and remaining behind closed doors for the remainder of his life is an untrue picture today. Sixty-one per cent. of the number admitted were discharged last year.

The day is not far distant when criminals will be treated as mentally ill persons and dealt with by psychological measures, the doctor believed.

Plenty Of British Capital

Is Available In Canada For Sound Investment Purposes

Millions of dollars of British investment for the development of empire enterprises where fair returns can be shown for bonafide industrial projects, Major Gordon C. Home, official of the Empire Development Association, of London, England, stated at Victoria.

"There is plenty of capital in Great Britain, despite the difficult nature of times, looking for ordinary returns through investments in industrial and other undertakings within the empire. Our great difficulty has been that worthwhile projects in the British dominions have not been drawn as closely to the attention of the motherland as might be desirable. One purpose of the Empire Development Association is to secure information of investment opportunities to lay before those having the capital to encourage and develop such undertakings," said Major Home.

Garnet Wheat

Mixture As Much As Seven Per Cent.

Allowed In No. 1 Northern Since 1926 the grain inspection department has permitted as much as seven per cent. of Garnet wheat in No. 1 Northern, James D. Fraser, chief grain inspector, told the House of Commons Committee on Agriculture. That proportion would not affect the grade. In general, however, Garnet had been kept fairly well separated from other varieties.

Mr. Fraser had no opinion to offer as to whether Garnet should or should not be graded separately. In his experience he had never received any complaint against No. 1 Northern on account of Garnet being contained therein.

Tax Duplication

Premier Brownlee, Of Alberta, Deplores Double Taxation System

Duplication of income taxes by federal and provincial governments was deplored by Premier John E. Brownlee, of Alberta, addressing the annual meeting of the Winnipeg Board of Trade. He said steps should be taken to revise the constitution of Canada to meet modern requirements and eliminate the duplication of taxation.

Appealing for confidence, clear thinking and sanity in the face of economic depression, Mr. Brownlee urged business men to co-operate with governments and farmers in the solution of the west's problems. The most pressing problem was that of agriculture. Some means must be found of enabling the farmer to overcome the burden of debts accumulated in the last two years.

Another problem was markets. Research in this field was needed. There were many unfocused markets for western Canadian products. All should be sought out and explored.

The problem of governmental finance was also a serious one, but there could be no thought of inflation or public repudiation of debts. Mr. Brownlee criticized those who pressed for government economy at all costs. In expenditure could only be pressed a certain distance, and after that it resulted in a curtailment of essential services.

Churchill Development

Preparing Facilities For Both Inward and Outbound Cargoes

Construction of a freight shed for imports coming into western Canada by the Churchill route will be one of the features of work at the Bay port this year. Tenders for the shed will be let very soon, it is expected. Only about 250 men will be employed at Churchill by the Department of Railways and Canals instead of the 750 that were engaged last year. Dredging will be done by one dredge this summer instead of the two that worked last year.

The dredging programme will be completed this summer and will leave the harbor ready for the next twenty years, according to port authorities. Construction of the extension to the conveyor system is underway now and will be completed about the middle of the summer. Only a small portion remains to be completed on the dock. Efforts are under way to obtain livestock facilities at Churchill for the summer, and equipment for unloading coal from inbound boats.

The fact that C. B. Cochran is putting on "The Miracle" again in London, England, again recalls a good story. Among those who were queuing up for the advance booking on the occasion of its last presentation were a Scot and a Jew. "Come along, sir," said the box-office man impatiently to the Jew, how many seats do you want for "The Miracle"? "None," he replied. "I've just seen it."

Death Toll Among Deer

Strange Malady Plays Havoc With Deer In Northern Saskatchewan Reports that bear evidence of widespread death toll among the deer of Saskatchewan's northland, have been reaching here. Starvation, or some strange malady which may be a form of "sleeping sickness" is believed the cause of the animals' deaths. Travellers from the Jack Pine lands of the Big River country tell of "scores" and "hundreds" of deer lying dead in the woods.

A game warden instructed by A. H. Elter, provincial game commissioner, to trace down the reports, tells that on one day's journey while patrolling south of the Beaver River he came across the bodies of twelve deer. There was no apparent cause of death. The animals looked as if they had just died and died.

The lungs and liver of these deer were removed and have been sent to the veterinary pathologist at the University of Saskatchewan, who will examine the organs in an endeavor to determine the cause of death. The report is the first official one to be made, but the belief that the condition is general in the northland, is to be investigated as soon as weather conditions permit travel.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND DUSTING DISTASTEFUL

Dust cloths going into discard; Unpleasant to use; a bother to Wash

APPLEFORD WONDER PAPER HAS GREAT VOGUE

Of all household tasks, that of dusting is the least appealing to the majority of women.

However, this condition, like many another, is undergoing a radical change. In a great many Canadian homes the women are discarding dust cloths entirely, and are using Appelford Wonder Paper instead, because it actually dusters—as it cleans—as it collects, doing a better and much quicker job than the old dust cloth ever did.

This new, and extremely modern Wonder Paper, is made from clean rags, and soft paper pulp, treated in a scientific way with a high-grade furniture polish; and absorbs dirt instead of spreading it.

Appelford Wonder Paper comes in handy-size packages, twenty-five large sheets for twenty-five cents. You crumple a sheet into a soft wad and go over the surfaces requiring attention. Then when one side is soiled or worn, turn the Wonder Paper inside out. After you have given a quick and lasting finish to furniture and woodwork, you can still use Wonder Paper on the floors, if you wish.

And when you are through, there's no dirtier task to shake up or wash. Throw the soiled Wonder Paper away and you've completed the most tiresome part of housework in half the time and with half the effort.

Wonder Paper is made by the makers of the famous PARA-SAN Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box.

Report Submitted On The Milling And Baking Qualities Of Spring Wheat Varieties

A report on the milling and baking qualities of Canadian spring wheat varieties has been submitted to the common committee on agriculture.

The report was made to the National Research Council by J. G. Malloch, assistant research biologist, University of Alberta; W. F. Geddes, professor of agricultural chemistry, University of Manitoba, and R. J. Larmer, assistant professor of chemistry, University of Saskatchewan.

A co-operative study was made of the milling and baking quality of 25 varieties of spring wheat, now grown in western Canada. Samples were grown in adjacent plots by the Dominion Experimental Farms and Universities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1928, 1929 and 1930. Only samples which were sound enough to be placed in the statutory grades by official inspectors were used. Part of each sample was milled and baked in each of the three co-operating laboratories. Four baking formulas were used. The varieties were classified on the basis of loaf volume, texture, crumb color, general appearance of loaf, absorption and yield of straight flour. These classifications were combined to give classifications for baking quality and milling quality and finally for suitability for export and domestic milling. The last classification is as follows:

1. Varieties which are entirely satisfactory: Reward, Ceres, Marquis, Pioneer, Red Fife, Renfrew, Red Bobs 222 and Supreme.

2. Varieties which are fairly satisfactory: Early Red Fife, Ruby and Early Triumph.

3. Varieties which are unsatisfactory: (a) White wheats: Quality, Azimaster and Hard Federation. (b) Varieties differing from Marquis in milling characteristics: Garnet and Kota. (c) Varieties inferior to Marquis in baking characteristics: Garnet, Parker's Selection, Brownhead, Huron, Kitchener, Preston and Marquillo.

4. Varieties which are very unsatisfactory: Early Prolific, Dicklow and Vermilion.

Of Marquis, the report states it is "our standard variety and is satisfactory in all respects."

Dealing with Reward, the report reads:

"Reward has a high weight per bushel and a satisfactory flour yield. It has a very high protein content. The baking qualities are excellent. It gives loaves of large volume with good color, texture, appearance and absorption. Reward has the best milling and baking quality of the varieties tested."

Among the varieties placed in the class unsatisfactory for export or domestic milling in the report, perhaps the most extensively grown is Garnet. The report states:

"Garnet: The test weight and the yield of flour are satisfactory. Garnet differs from Marquis in its tempering properties and cannot be tempered properly when mixed with that variety. For this reason the milling quality of Garnet is classed as fair. The protein content is low. It is satisfactory in absorption and in appearance of the loaves. The other baking characteristics are poor."

"It gives small loaves with poor texture, particularly when baked by the blend-bromate or malt-phosphate formulas. The color of the crumb is decidedly yellow. Garnet cannot be considered a desirable variety."

The report was dated on April 4.

Not Easy To Answer

How Can Farmer Make Money With Prices So Low

We can tell the farmer to a decimal point how many acres of sod or stubble a man should plow in a ten-hour day with a team of horses or with a tractor. We can inform him that he should be able to grow potatoes for 30 cents per bushel; likewise that the average length of life of a corn-binder is 20.6 years, and that a gang-plow should live to the fine old age of 18.3 years. Yes, sir, we can fairly spout statistics and figures which would amaze the man on the farm. But honestly, brother, when you ask how to make money selling milk to the factory at something under two cents per quart, and when you yearn for enlightenment on how to wax fat on selling pigs with their boots on at $4.25 per hundred, we must follow our usual policy of being very frank, and our answer is that we have a meek-sounding suspicion that you can't do it.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Work Under Handicap

Watch Is Not Used By Russian Railway Men

The lack of watches in Soviet pockets is partially blamed by the Transport Union for recent railway disasters, says a message from Moscow. Wrecks occur, trains are late, and the transportation system suffers from lack of co-ordination, when employees cannot determine whether they are operating their trains according to the time-table. The Commissariat of Transport, tried the experiment of issuing watches to men as they went on duty, and having them turned in at the close of work, so they would be available for the next shift. This proved unsatisfactory, chiefly because the watches were not given sufficient care. Now the Union has called on the Commissariat of Supply to speed up the output of watches so that all railway men may have them.

Navigators Fear Fog

Only Danger Which Is Really Alarming To Sea Captains

Fogs are the most dangerous hazards that confront navigators. A sea captain is not greatly alarmed by a heavy gale; he doesn't worry much about a high running sea; he manoeuvres his vessel through treacherous sounds and within perilous passages without more than ordinary caution; but when a thick fog hangs over the water he immediately reduces the speed of his ship and keeps his ears open for the howl of the foghorn that indicates the proximity of a dangerous shore or a hidden rock.

Plants Think On Seeing the Light

Scientist Says Vegetable Kingdom Has Brains and Uses Them

When you see a plant bending toward the light, it is thinking. For plants have brains, according to experiments conducted by the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. Like human beings and animals, they also have eyes and legs—and use them.

This relation between the vegetable and animal kingdom, discovery of which may have far reaching results, was disclosed by a doctor who has made a study of the actions of plants when exposed to light. "There appears to exist in the plant a more or less localized region capable of receiving a stimulus," he said. "It has been shown that the most sensitive portion of a coleoptile—the leaf shoot surrounding the bud of an ascending shoot—is the first fifty microns of the tip. The first millimeter is 160 times as sensitive as the second, and 1,800 times as sensitive as the third millimeter zone."

The tip of the plant corresponds to an eye. When light strikes the "eye," then the stem of the plant corresponding to the leg, bends much as a human being does in walking.

A Really New Invention

Quebec Man Has Potato Machine That Works Successfully

The completion of a potato digging machine of his own invention has recently been announced by Joseph Morau, of Villa St. Pierre near Montreal. He claims that it has been inspected by the federal and provincial government authorities and pronounced to be the only machine in existence today that will dig potatoes without injuring the vegetable. It weighs 300 lbs., is made up of twenty component parts and can be hauled by a team of horses or by a motor truck.

Cling To Old Idea

North Carolina Indians Still Believe In "Witch Children"

"Witch children," specially educated from babyhood to be witches, have just been reported by a scientist to exist among the Cherokee Indians of North Carolina.

These 20th century witches are "made, not born," says Dr. Frans M. Oibrechts, Belgian ethnologist, in a report issued by the Smithsonian Institution. Children, preferably twins, selected for a career as witches are put through an initiation supposed to endow them with supernatural powers.

Oldest Official Retiring

Sir Edward Wallington, a member of the Queen's household, first as private secretary and then as treasurer since the accession of King George, is soon to retire from office. He is the oldest official in the royal household and was born in 1854. At one time he was private secretary to a succession of colonial governors, and came to be known as "Better Not" Wallington, due to his skill in heading off undesired visitors.

Probable Carry-Over Of Wheat Is Expected To Be Smallest Since 1928, According To Estimates

Northern Grown Seed

Herman Trelle Advises Use To Avoid Danger From Rust

Prairie farmers who face the annual menace of rust should fight by use of northern grown seed grain, declared Herman Trelle, wheat king, at Edmonton.

Reports on Peace River seed used on the southern prairie affected zones had shown practical immunity the first year, while resistance began to break down the second year. That indicates change of seed every third year would prove good insurance against rust. He believed seed grown in northern Saskatchewan would be equally as effective for Manitoba and southern prairie farmers.

Trelle-dubbed the research hunt for good milling rust-resistance wheat varieties as a "wild goose chase" and waste of time and money.

Watermark On Paper

Pulp Is Passed Under Roller Which Bears Regulate Device

A watermark is a device which is incorporated in the body of a paper. When paper is made by machinery the paper pulp is passed under a wire roller, known as the "dandy" roll, which bears the regulate watermark device. The paper is thus thinned where the wires of the "dandy" roll touch it, and so, when the paper is finished, these parts are more transparent than the rest. While a large number of postage stamps are printed on watermarked paper, it is incorrect to suppose that a specimen is not genuine because its paper is unmarked. There are many countries which do not avail themselves of this useful safeguard against the forgery of their postage stamps.

Undue Pessimism

Canada Suffering From A National Headache, Says Hon. R. J. Manion

"We are suffering from a national headache induced by a financial debacle," said Hon. R. J. Manion, Federal Minister of Railways and Canals, in the course of an address before the Toronto Liberal-Conservative Businessmen's Club at Toronto.

"There is undue pessimism, just as there was undue optimism in the boom days of 1928," he said. "Let us practice some of the spirit showing during the war, and we will be one of the first countries to return to prosperity."

Japs Issue Warning

A warning to the League of Nations and to Soviet Russia to keep "hands off Manchuria" was issued by General Sadao Araki, Japanese war minister, in a speech to the Kokuhonsha, a patriotic society of Osaka.

A survey of the world wheat situation shows varying conditions, but the bright spot for Canada is the estimate of a comparatively small carry-over, with indications of favorable export trade for the balance of the present crop year, ending July 31, 1932.

Recent estimates place the probable carry-over at 104,000,000 bushels, the smallest since 1928, and about 30,000,000 bushels less than on July 31, 1931.

In a review of world conditions, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the European market is described as "broader today than at any time during the present crop year." World import requirements for the balance of the crop year are placed at from 225,000,000 to 235,000,000 bushels. Under present conditions, Canada and the United States will be called on to supply 150,000,000 bushels, probably, says the bureau review, about 75,000,000 from each country.

Reports of below normal conditions in the winter wheat belt of the United States have focused the eyes of the grain trade on the situation there. With early reports of a crop 42 per cent, below the 1931 yield, weather conditions over that production area in the next few weeks will have an important effect upon the world situation.

Growing crops in Europe are subject of varying reports, but it is too early to make the review, to offer definite comments. In general, crops in northern Europe are inclined to be backward, and in central Europe, including France, Spain and Germany, are in good condition. The Danubian countries report favorable development, with the exception of Hungary, where wheat and rye crops are unsatisfactory. Reports from Russia continue to indicate difficulty in getting the 1932 production underway and two Soviet continents to offer a field for speculation among students of the wheat situation.

Dentists Require More Than Mechanical Skill

Students Now Get Good Grounding In Medical Science

No profession offers better possibilities in the province of Quebec than the dental profession, Dr. Walsh, acting dean of the Dental Faculty of McGill University, told members of the Gyro Club at Montreal. There was only one dentist for every 3,300 persons he pointed out.

Up to the present time, Dr. Walsh thought, the dental profession had been looked upon as merely a highly-skilled mechanical one. All this was changing, however, and it was generally recognized now that students of dentistry were getting every bit as good as the medical students. He prophesied that the time was close at hand when people would not merely ask the dentist what was wrong with this or that tooth, but ply him with the question: "Is anything wrong with my mouth?"

Inglorious End of Glorious Flight

Workmen are shown hauling the wreckage of the plane in which J. A. Mollison (last), English aviator, made a record-breaking flight from England to Africa, from the Milnerton Beach, Cape Town, South Africa. The aviator crashed on the completion of his long flight while attempting to make a landing on the beach. He flew from London, England, to the tip of Africa in just five days. Mollison was uninjured in the crash and immediately drove to the aerodrome, where thousands of anxious spectators greeted him.

King George Refused Stamps For Collection

Royal Family Does Not Accept Gifts From Public

American admirers of George V. and his stamp collection, who have been sending His Majesty specimens of American issues, are advised through the Associated Press that he does not accept gifts of stamps. The Royal Family of Great Britain makes a practice of not accepting gifts from the public at home or abroad. What is more, with respect to proffered gifts of American stamps, George V.'s world famous collection includes only stamps on the British Empire. This explanation is timely. An American sent His Majesty specimens of a recent issue of commemorative stamps from this country and was peevish because they were not accepted. The story got into the newspapers and tended to convey the wholly erroneous idea that King George was unappreciative of the compliment paid him by the offer of the stamps. A statement of the Royal Family's practice in such matters should be sufficient to remove any such misunderstanding.—Detroit Free Press.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

...THROUGH CASTORIA'S GENTLE REGULATION

The best way to prevent colic, doctors say, is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste. But remember this: a baby's tender little organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the time Castoria can help most. Castoria, you know, is made especially for babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. For years it has helped mothers through trying times with colicky babies and children, suffering with digestive upsets, colds and fever. Keep genuine Castoria on hand, with the name:

DELIGHTFULLY BECOMING TO THE HEAVIER FIGURE IS SIMPLE STRAIGHT LINE DRESS

Here are charming lines for the matron. And into the bargain, it is a very simple dress to fashion.

The bodice is given a cross-closure effect, so slimming, through a neat inset vest, that scallops its outer edge. The skirt has two little plaits at either side of the center-front, creating a center panel to give the figure height and grace.

It can be made with short or long sleeves, just as you please about it. It's very smart in printed crepe silk with plain contrast.

There are many rayon novelties smart to fashion it for home wear. Shier woollens are also suitable.

Style No. 942 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 1/2 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Price of pattern 25 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

The Fanning Mill

Valuable Information Regarding Its Use and Operation

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Seed drill surveys that have been made by the Dominion Seed Branch show without a doubt that a vast amount of weed seeds and other impurities are seeded into the ground each year with seed grain. Investigation further shows that most of this grain had been cleaned through fanning mills. The reason for these impurities being present in the seed is unquestionably due to the fact that it is very difficult to clean grain properly with the average fanning mill.

Based on the experience of many years of cleaning Registered Seed to the high standard of perfection required by the Seeds Act, the writer has worked out a method of cleaning seed with a simple fanning mill that will be found to be simple and effective.

In the first place only two screens are really needed for a fanning mill—a top screen that will scalp off large grains, pieces of straw and parts of threshed heads, and a smaller screen underneath that will allow the weed seeds, small cracked grains, etc., to pass through, leaving on top of the bottom screen only the large plump kernels required for seed. A fanning mill, using two good screens as described, will do just as good work as will those fitted with banks of screens—perhaps better. Some of the large kernels, however, will be light, so that a strong air blast is necessary to blow them out. The mill should be turned at such a speed that will produce such a blast of air as will blow over at least 10 per cent. of the grain, then it is certain that all light kernels are being separated.

If a fanning mill would continue to operate in this manner no weed seeds or other impurities would be present in the final cleaned seed. Unfortunately the average fanning mill will not continue to work in this fashion for more than a few moments, the reason being that the screen, both top and bottom, particularly the bottom screen, very quickly plug up with small kernels, and so allow the weed seeds and impurities to pass over with the good grain.

Some fanning mills are fitted with devices that keep the screen clean, such as tapping hammers or traveling brushes. These devices, however, are very expensive and very few can afford them. A fanning mill without these extras can be made to do good work providing the operator will stop the machine at least every five minutes, remove the screens and carefully clean them with a stiff brush. If this is not done it is quite certain that most of the work of fanning grain will be wasted and that the seed will contain many weeds and other impurities.

Besides cleaning the screens frequently it is, of course, necessary to see that the grain is fed very slowly and evenly on to the screens and that the machine is also turned evenly, but fast enough to produce, as mentioned above, a strong blast of air.

All grain should be put at least twice through the fanning mill in this manner, feeding slowly each time. It is the writer's experience that the capacity of most fanning mills is estimated by the manufacturers on a basis of grain cleaning for material rather than for seed cleaning. Most machines, for instance, that are listed at 25 bushels an hour, will do a good job on seed at about eight bushels per hour, only, and if more is forced through it is at the expense of good work. The machine of course must be set level and should be applied or fastened solidly to a good stout floor and facilities should be provided to see that there is no chance scalping or screenings from either the screens or the wind beam.

ESAU SELLS HIS BIRTHRIGHT

Golden Text: "Every man that stiveth in the games exerciseth self-control in all things."—1 Corinthians 9. 25.

Lesson: Genesis 25:27-34.

Devotional Reading: Hebrews 12. 14-17.

Explanations and Comments

Isaac's Sons Contrasted, verses 27, 28.—Esau and Jacob, twin sons of Isaac and Rebekah, were wholly different in appearance and character. Esau, the first-born, was rough and hairy; he loved the outdoor life, and was a skillful hunter. He was the favorite of his father, who, as is often the case, preferred the son who was so unlike him in every way. Jacob was smooth-faced and handsome, a quiet stay-at-home, and he was the favorite of his mother. From these statements of parental favoritism any one could foretell future trouble.

Jacob's Craftiness, verses 29-31.—One day Jacob boiled some pottage, a dish made of lentils or small beans, and to this day much liked in Syria; and when Esau came in from the field weary and faint, he asked Jacob for it. Notice that the word "pottage" in Esau's request is in italics, the best showing that it is supplied from the context and is lacking in the Hebrew. Literally, the translation is "Feed me with the red," this red, and it strikingly shows Esau's hunger and impatient eagerness for the savory dish. Therefore was his name called Edom. We are told, Edom means "Red." Esau had red hair and complexion, and it was red pottage for which he sold his birthright: all these things combined to give him this name. He is the reputed ancestor of the Edomites.

"Sell me first thy birthright," was Jacob's answer to Esau. By the birthright he meant the rights and privileges of the firstborn which later, at least, included succession to the father as head of the family, who exercised a kind of priesthood, and a double portion of the father's property. (Deuteronomy 21:17). The father's chief blessing was given to the firstborn son. It included the covenant blessing first given to Abraham—the promise of great posterity, of the inheritance of the land of Canaan, and the special blessing of Jehovah. It was a sharp bargain that Jacob drove, taking a mean advantage of Esau in his exhaustion and hunger, but he appreciated the value of the birthright as Esau could not, for Esau cared only for the gratification of his momentary desire. Enjoy the present and let the future take care of itself, was his rule of life.

Esau sold all the spiritual privileges of Jacob's nature, there was immense capacity for religious fervor and religious faith. He could draw aside the veil of the unseen, and weigh its promises, and compare its treasures with the shows of earth. He could dream angel-haunted dreams, that threw a mystic ladder over the abyss of space, linking all worlds. And while Esau was occupied with pleasure, Jacob could feel within him the strange stirrings of a nature which could not be satisfied with anything within the narrow limits of his tent; but which yearned for that spiritual heritage which was summed in the word "birthright."

Esau's Poly, verses 32-34.—"I am tired to death," is an expression we often hear. Esau gave utterance to the same feeling with the same amount of meaning: "Behold, I am about to die; he said to Jacob, and what profit shall the birthright do to me?" What did he care about something or nothing so distant? He cared for a further tax on tea, but, as there was no additional impost announced, they were able to make a downward revision of 10 cents on the pound, or 5 cents on the half-pound.

"We barter life for pottage! sell true bias For wealth, or power, for pleasure or renown! Thus, Esau-like, our Father's blessing miss Then wash with fruitless tears our faded crown."—(Koble).

ing mixed with the good cleaned seed. Fanning mills with screens only separate according to the difference in width of kernel. To separate kernels of different lengths, that is to say, wheat from oats, etc., it is necessary to use what is called an industrial machine such as a Carter Disc or an indent cylinder. The most perfect job of seed cleaning is offered by travelling or stationary plants in which the grain is first passed through a good fanning mill with a strong blast of air, then through either an indent cylinder or a Carter Disc. The average fanning mill, using screens alone will not separate wheat from oats or vice versa.

VALERA POLICY IS TO REMAIN WITHIN EMPIRE

Dublin, Irish Free State.—President Eamon de Valera, during debate in the Dail Eireann on his bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British crown, made it clear this intention was to get rid of the oath without withdrawing the Irish Free State from the British Commonwealth of Nations.

As a prelude to the president's motion for second reading of the bill, the government was unexpectedly defeated on a side issue connected with the problem of unemployment. The vote, 76 to 66, brought shouts of "Re-ign!" from the opposition benches, but Mr. de Valera ignored them, and went on to the debate on the oath.

In quiet, unpassioned tones, he made this assertion:

"We propose to honor scrupulously the pledge we gave the electors, we hold, there is no obligation on us to consult the British Government with respect to the action we are taking. Deletion of the oath is quite consistent with the position of the Free State as one of the co-equal partners in the British Commonwealth."

Turning to the proposal to delete the section of the constitution which makes that constitution subject to terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty, a provision which the bill also seeks to remove, the president said his purpose was to put the treaty in the same position as other countries put their treaties.

It should not be possible, he maintained, for the courts to say municipal law was subject to the terms of the treaty.

Mr. de Valera's pronouncement brought former Premier William T. Cosgrave to his feet to attack the bill as "the greatest piece of political chicanery in history." Its very simplicity, he said, was its own condemnation.

"One clause of the treaty is as binding as any other," Mr. Cosgrave declared. "Destroy one and you destroy all."

The bill, he contended, was a breach of the treaty, and the only way to alter that document was by mutual agreement between the Free State and Great Britain.

New Trade Treaty

Canada-New Zealand Agreement May Increase Our Exports To Antipodes

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada receives the full British preferential tariff on all exports to New Zealand, with the exception of six items, under the Canada-New Zealand trade agreement made public in the House of Commons by Hon. H. E. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. The pact is for one year—by reason of the coming Imperial Economic Conference—and will come into effect by proclamation following parliamentary approval by the sister dominion.

The potential normal market in New Zealand is $200,000,000 annually. Canada's normal yearly share in this Antipodean market has been $19,000,000 approximately, although in 1930 exports to New Zealand showed a value of $15,000,000. Mr. Stevens expressed the highest hope of increasing very considerably Canadian exports to the Antipodes.

Effect Economies

Directors Of C.N.R. Have Worked Hard In This Direction

Ottawa, Ont.—The directors of the Canadian National Railways worked hard in the interests of the system, W. A. Boyd, K.C., a member of the C.N.R. board told the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping here. Many economies have been effected, and the personnel of the board had at heart the success of the railways. Mr. Boyd cited the report of the sub-committee, of which he was chairman, as indicating the extent to which expenditures had been reduced.

On Speaking Terms

Prime Minister and Leader Of The Opposition Have No Personal Differences

Ottawa, Ont.—Mr. King speaks for Mr. Bennett, and Mr. Bennett speaks for Mr. King. Prompted by an editorial in the Ottawa Journal, the two political leaders solemnly assured the House of Commons they were on speaking terms.

"So far as I am concerned," said the Liberal leader, after reading the editorial, "I was not aware that I had ceased to be on speaking terms with the prime minister. It is true that I have not felt free to accept some of the invitations he kindly extended, but beyond that I have not been aware of any personal differences between us."

The prime minister said he was glad Mr. King had made this statement. "The last occasion," Mr. Bennett continued, "I had the opportunity of speaking to him (Mr. King), I did not observe anything in his conduct which would indicate that he was unwilling to speak to me. Perhaps I spoke to him first on that occasion, but inasmuch as there have been many acute differences between us in which he said he would not accept any statement made by me, I assume the newspapers concluded that, as a matter of intelligent discrimination, I might decline to make any statement to him."

Expresses Sympathy

Prince Of Wales Is Moved By Plight Of Unemployed

Newcastle, England.—The Prince of Wales expressed sympathy for the workless and made a plea to social workers for voluntary personal service to better what he termed "deplorable conditions" during a tour of this distressed industrial district of England.

Moved by the plight of the unemployed, he made a little impromptu speech of sympathy to 300 of the jobless at an unemployment centre at South Shields.

"Let me wish you the best of luck," he said. "My sympathy is with you all. I sincerely hope the employment that used to be here will come back and hard times will not continue very much longer."

The uncheduled speech surprised and pleased the hearers, who acknowledged it with cheers.

E.C. Government Making Determined Efforts To Discover Bombers

Victoria, B.C.—Determined efforts to identify miscreants responsible for a long series of bombings of school buildings and other structures, and tampering with railway tracks in the interior of British Columbia, have been launched by the government with the announcement of a reward of $2,000 for information leading to the discovery and arrest of those responsible for sabotage in the Doukhobor areas.

R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, made the announcement following special efforts to trace those responsible for attempted train wrecking and bombings. In addition to the usual police stationed in the Doukhobor districts, 16 special constables have been sworn in under an intensive system of patrols. Guards have been stationed on public buildings.

Premier S. F. Tolmie announced that negotiations were being conducted with the federal authorities in connection with protection of public property on the main transportation system of the province.

A Troublesome Side Line

Sir Henry Thornton Wishes C.N.R. Did Not Own Any Hotels

Ottawa, Ont.—"I would be delighted if we did not own hotels anywhere. They give me more trouble than all the rest of the railways put together," Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, told the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping here Wednesday, April 27. Many of these had been in existence before he became president of the system, while others had been built in order to equalize competition with the Canadian Pacific.

Bank Closing Not Intended

Premier Bracken Expected To Get Assistance From Government

Winnipeg, Man.—Premier John Bracken told the Manitoba Legislature's committee inquiring into closing of the Provincial Savings Office that he had never negotiated with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett with a view to closing the office. He had hoped to get financial aid from the Dominion Government with which to meet heavy withdrawals but was turned down, he said, and only then was closing of the institution considered.

The Savings Office was closed in February after the federal government and banks had refused to grant Manitoba a loan which would have permitted continuance of business, remarked the premier.

C. W. Scott, British Flyer, Makes Journey In Less Than Nine Days

Port Darwin, Australia.—C. W. A. Scott, British flyer, landed his aeroplane here after a flight from Lympe, England, beating the former record for an air trip between the two countries by seven hours and 36 minutes.

Scott's time for the 13,188 miles was eight days, 13 hours and 53 minutes, and regained for him the record he lost last year when C. A. Butler made the flight in nine days, two hours and 29 minutes, one hour and 42 minutes faster than Scott's previous time.

The flyer took off from Lympe at 5 o'clock on the morning of April 19, and flew by way of Brindisi, Italy, across Persia and India to Sourabaya, Java.

Banning Use Of Highways

Government Of Alberta Saved Huge Sum By Protecting Gravelled Roads

Edmonton, Alberta.—The Government of Alberta saved $500,000 through banning the use of certain highways owing to recent heavy snowfalls and rains, said Premier J. E. Brownlee, Wednesday, April 27. Mr. Brownlee was referring to protests of Edmonton transport companies who claimed the ban prevented them from doing business.

If heavy trucks or buses had been allowed on the highways during the excessive snow and rain, the highways would have been seriously damaged and the cost of repair would have been nearly half a million, said Mr. Brownlee.

Disagree On Submarines

Geneva, Switzerland.—Indictment of the submarine as the only offensive naval weapon by British and United States naval experts, met with sharp opposition from spokesmen for the smaller powers on the naval commission at the disarmament conference.

BACK TO LAND PLAN IS HELPED BY RELIEF FUNDS

Ottawa, Ont.—Decision of the Federal Government to apply a portion of relief expenditures now being used in supporting unemployed families in enabling such families to gain a subsistence on the land was announced by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, subject to equal contributions by the province and the municipality concerned. It is proposed to assist families, physically fit and otherwise qualified to undertake settlement, to put themselves on a self-supporting basis. The joint contribution will be sufficient to cover the cost of modest establishment in the way of livestock and equipment in addition to necessary subsistence while the families are getting a start.

"This is in no sense a government-aided land settlement scheme," said Mr. Gordon, "but an application of relief expenditure to enable families receiving relief to contribute to their own maintenance by labor on the land, where they may eventually establish themselves on a self-supporting basis."

Administration of the scheme will be under provincial jurisdiction with respect to the selection of families, location of suitable farms and settlement of families thereon. While responsibility for administration will rest upon the provinces it is intended that advisory committees, consisting of representatives of province, municipality, federal land settlement branch, Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, will co-operate.

Adoption of the scheme in any locality will be dependent upon the approval and co-operation of the province and municipality concerned.

Aviator Says Eskimos

In Alaska Suffering

Many In Village Destroyed By Tidal Wave Without Food

Fairbanks, Alaska.—A picture of human misery "so dire as to be almost unbelievable," was drawn by Pilot Art Woodley, upon his return here from a flight over the country between the mouth of the Yukon River and the Hooper Bay region.

The region was struck by a tidal wave last December and several native villages destroyed. Woodley was accompanied on his trip by the Very Rev. Francis Menager, superior of Jesuit Missions in Alaska.

Several hundred Eskimos in a number of the villages visited, Woodley and Father Menager said, were virtually without food. The ice cakes, which rode on the tidal wave, were carried inland as far as 20 miles, they said, and destroyed the Eskimos' winter supply of fish.

Missionaries have given aid, but their resources were reported by Father Menager to be limited. Sickness is growing among the natives and there is a fear of floods as a result of the melting of heavy snow.

Jury Was Lenient

Did Not Blame Accused For Kissing Pretty Girl

Warren, Ont.—Lips of Warren maidens are so alluring that man can't be blamed for trying to kiss them, a jury of five Warren burghers decided in Judge Edmund Proulx' division court. Paga, Honore Dubois sued neighbor Giroux Ovila for trying to kiss his daughter, Elizabeth, but the jury took a look at Elizabeth and decided that man is weak and Ovila was not to blame.

"Though the case was a civil action for $100, the jury brought in a verdict of 'not guilty.'"

"Not guilty of what?" demanded Judge Proulx.

"Not guilty of anything," the jury replied.

A Course of Lectures on Christian Fundamentals.

What does the Church stand for?
What are the principal doctrines of Christian religion?
What does the Church teach regarding creation, redemption, life, death, resurrection, heaven, hell, etc?
What principles does the Church espouse?
What claim has it upon my interest and attention?
Has the Church something that I need?
Does it solve the problems of my life?
The answers to these and similar questions are given in a series of lectures for adults, which are held on Every Wednesday Evening from 8 to 9 o'clock.
Everybody is invited to these Lectures. Attendance involves no memory work, nor any obligation as to eventual membership in the Church.

The Lectures are for such as wish to become familiar with the doctrinal position of the Lutheran Church.

Attendants at the course will at the conclusion of the Lectures be eligible for Church membership; but no pressure will be brought to bear on them towards affiliation with the Church.

Our own Church members are welcome to join the Class.

PASTOR KUBING will conduct this Class at St. Matthew School No. 2, Stony Plain.

King's Baseball King.

Kernan Loeblich, the well known baseball pitcher, is waiting for the opening of the baseball season, he having joined up for another season with Mr King's team from the Stock Yards, commonly known as "The Bulls." This team has now been re-named and will be known as "The Royals." The team is a member of the Edmonton Senior Amateur Baseball League. With Herman Loeblich and "Red" Nichols as the battery for this team last season, they cleaned up everything in the league.

Spruce Grove News.

The ice cream and soft drink parlor in connection with the Brox Departmental store will open shortly, the frigidaire machine being expected to arrive this week.

Eggs are flowing into the village in large quantities at present; and the new song hit is "All the Hens Are Laying for Walder"

A meeting of baseball fans was held last week, and matters in connection with the management of the team were talked over. Messrs W A Ries and W Brox are delegates to the League Executive.

The juvenile acrobats are having lots of fun on the tie-posts recently installed on Railroad ave.

There is so much moisture on some farms in this district this spring that one farmer who was out plowing on Monday had his gang and 4 horse team "sloughed" in a big soft spot.

Mr J H McLaughlin invites you to tune in Sunday evening to the Calgary station CFAC and listen to a half hour of good music sponsored by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., makers of the famous Elephant Brand Fertilizer.

Members of Spruce Grove Community League held their annual meeting on the 26th, in the McLeod office, with a large attendance present. Mr Walter Brox was re-elected president for the term of 1932-3.

Miss E Willie, a charming debutante from Lacombe, accompanied by her mother, spent a very enjoyable holiday with Mrs. Jac Brox.

On Friday evening last Mrs Charles Schlang left hurriedly for Talmage, Sask., on receipt of a wire that her father lay critically ill.

Miss L Curtis, recently on the staff of the Hollywood Revue Magazine, is at present attending to the advertising

Stony Plain and District

Sunday next, May 8th, is Mother's Day.

For Mother's Day, Sunday next, there are special cards and boxes of candy on display at Stony Plain Pharmacy.

Mr Clarence Anderson is around again, after being under the doctor's care for a few days.

Miss Susan Miller had recovered sufficiently from her recent illness to be taken to her home here.

Mr Bert Becker is making a splendid recovery from the effects of the recent snowing accident.

The lectures on Christian Fundamentals will be held at the St. Matthew Schoolhouse in Stony Plain on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock. You are welcome to attend. Bring a friend!

Owing to the bad roads, the United Church Rallyes have been postponed for two weeks; the new dates are—Hulbom May 15; Brightbank May 22, Sand Hills May 29.

If others failed to satisfy you, see M Mecklenburg at Royal Hotel.

A REMINDER TO ALL—Wednesday afternoons throughout the Summer is the Storekeepers' holiday; they shut up shop at 1 p.m.

Those Spring Repair Jobs

Spring is the recognised time for making repairs and alterations, for repainting, renovating and redecorating. With the turn of the season comes a recurrence of the impulse to fix things up, to restore the wear and tear of the year, to make changes indoors and out that will live new interest and added appearance to the premises, says the Viking News

In keeping with the times, the prices of materials and tools required for these spring chores are lower than for a number of years. Wages for unskilled work are also at a lower level than in more active years. The cost of making renewals and improvements is thus substantially below normal, and the opportunity to effect such betterments correspondingly attractive.

requirements of the Grove Cafe.

Mr Jack Chisholm, the popular dispenser of first aid to the thirsty at the Grove Inn, left last week on a trip to the East.

Electrician H Trapp was a business visitor to the Grove on Friday.

Mr Paulsen, assisted by Mrs Paulsen, gave a very interesting lecture Sunday evening at United Church, on the work being carried on by the Christian Missionary Alliance. The choir from Glory Hills Baptist church had charge of the musical service, under Leader Jepperson.

The places of business in Stony Plain will close at 1 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Combine to Honor Railroad Veteran

W. G. Chester Serves Order Railway Conductors for Quarter Century

When W. G. (Billy) Chester, of Winnipeg, retired after twenty-five years service as general chairman of the Canadian Pacific section of the Order of Railway Conductors, something of the character that had won him the esteem of not only the men for whom he acted as chief spokesman, but of the company with which he negotiated was revealed by Grant Hall, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, when he said:

"I have been associated with Mr. Chester for many years. Never once has he broken his word. We often differed in our views, but I always knew that he was right. He was a man of the highest character, and I always knew that he was right."

Speak to the conductors whom he represented so well for a quarter of a century and one learns that "Billy" Chester was "a square shooter," than which in the ranks of his kind there is no prouder title. Chester is a man of words and always has been. Throughout his career as head of his order he has maintained the balance of a keen loyalty both to his men and to the Canadian Pacific Railway, a realization that discipline was as important for the protection of the former as the latter. He knew how to be firm when what he thought were the rights of his men were at stake, without creating ill-will in the minds of company officials with whom he might be negotiating.

This is what Chester himself has to say of these relationships: "My relations with the members of the organization and with the general officers of the company have been most friendly and satisfactory. The boys on the road have always given me a fair break. I have had the same treatment from the company's officials. I have tried to reciprocate."

Mr. Chester began railroading way back in 1881, and had 25 years with the Company before entering the service of his Order.

Specially Arranged Tours.

Something new in trans-Canada holidays, in which the railway, auto and steamship will be combined in pleasing variety, is offered for the coming summer thru two special tours now being arranged by Canadian National Rys. For July and August. Those who take part in these tours will traverse over 8000 miles of Canadian territory, 6000 miles by train, 1500 miles by steamer on the Great Lakes and Pacific coast, and over 500 miles by motor car in Rockies and the principal cities visited.

All the larger cities on the prairies will be included in the itinerary together with a triangle trip by steamer between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, with two days on the inland seas between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour. Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere. Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians in correcting excess acids.

CHAPTER XX

The Shadow Of The Future

Cold of gorge and purple of heather, a shimmering haze of heat quivering above the undulating green of the Moor, and somewhere, high up in the cloud-flecked blue above, the exultant, piercingly sweet carol of a lark.

"Oh! How utterly perfect this is!" sighed Jean.

She was lying at full length on the springy turf, her chin-cupped in her hands, her elbows denting little cosy hollows of darkness in the close mesh of green moss.

Tormarin, equally prone, was beside her, his eyes absorbing, not the open vista of rolling moor, hummocked with jagged tops of brown-grey stone, but the sun as it rioted through a glory of red-brown hair and touched changeful gleams of gold into topaz eyes.

There was a queer little throb in Jean's voice, the low note of almost passionate delight which sheer beauty never failed to draw from her. It plucked at the chords of memory, and Tormarin's thoughts leaped back suddenly to that day when he had spent together in the mountains, when, as they emerged from the pine-wood's gloom to the revelation of the great white-planned Alps, she had turned to him with the rapt cry: "It's so beautiful that it makes one's heart ache!"

"Do you remember—" he began involuntarily, then checked himself. "M-m?" he queried. The little interrogative murmur was tantalising in its soft note of intimacy.

The Jean of the last few days—the days immediately following their quarrel—had temporarily vanished. The beauty of the Moor had taken hold of her, and all the mockery and bitter-sweetness which she had latterly reserved for Tormarin's benefit was absent from her manner. She was just her natural sweet and wholesome self.

"M-m? Do I remember—what?"

"I was thinking what a pagan little beauty-lover you are! You worshipped the Alps. Now you are worshipping Dartmoor."

She nodded.

"I don't see why you should call it 'pagan,' though I should say it was equally Christian, I think we were meant to love beauty. Otherwise there wouldn't have been such a lot of it about. God didn't put it around just by accident."

"Quite probably you're right," agreed Blaise. "In which case you must be"—he smiled—"an excellent Christian."

"Positively I believe they're talking theology!"

Claire's voice, girlishly gay and free from the nervous restraint which formerly dulled its cadence of youth, broke suddenly on their ears, as she and Nick, rounding the corner of a big granite boulder, discovered the two recumbent forms.

"You disgustingly lazy people!" she pursued indignantly. "Everybody's dashing wildly to and fro unpacking the lunch baskets, while you two are just lounging here in blissful idleness!"

"I'm chronic with me," murmured Tormarin lazily. "And anyway, Claire, neither you nor Nick appear to be precisely overtaxing yourselves bearing nectar and ambrosia."

"I carried some of the drinks up this confounded hill," submitted Nick. "And damned heavy they were, too!"

"I can't think," plaintively—"why people should be so thirsty at a picnic. I'm sure Blaise has shoved in enough liquid refreshment to float a ship."

"Praise be!" interpolated Blaise placidly.

"Oh, we've done our share," supplemented Claire. "And now we're going to the gipsy who lives here to have our fortunes told."

"Before lunch," subjoined Nick, "so that in case they're depressing bad news they can stay with stagons afterwards."

Jean sat up suddenly, her face alight with interest.

"Do you mean that there is a real gipsy who tells real fortunes?" she demanded.

"Yes—quite real. She's supposed to be extraordinarily good," replied Nick. "She is a lady of property, too, since she has acquired a few square yards of the Moor from the Duke and built herself a little shanty there. She rejoices in the name of Keturah Stanley."

"I should like to have my fortune told," murmured Jean meditatively.

"I'll take you," volunteered Blaise. There was a suddenly alert look in his face, as though he, too, would like to hear Jean's fortune told.

"We'll all go, then," said Claire. "You must let Keturah tell yours as well, Blaise."

He shook his head.

"Thanks, no," he answered briefly. "I know my fortune quite as well as I have any wish to."

Tormarin's curt refusal somewhat quenched the gaiety of the moment, and rather soberly they all four made their way down the slope to where, in a little sheltered hollow at the foot of the tor, the sunlight glistened on the corrugated iron roofing of a tiny two-roomed hut, built of wood.

Outside, sitting on an inverted pal and composedly puffing away at a clay pipe, they discovered a small shrivelled old woman, sunning herself, like a cat, in the midday warmth.

She lifted her head as they approached, revealing an immensely old, delicately-featured face, which might have been carved out of yellow ivory. It was a network of wrinkles, colourless save for the piercing black eyes that sparkled beneath arched black brows, while the fine-cut nostrils and beautifully moulded mouth spoke unmistakably of race—the old untainted blood which in some gipsy families has run clear, unmingled and undiluted, through countless generations.

There was an odd dignity about this

"No repairs in 22 years," says home owner

"Visitors are delighted with the noiseless operation of my doors," says a home owner of Monongah, West Virginia. "The locks and hinges have been in active service 22 years, and during this time I haven't spent a cent for repairs. I've never used anything but 3-in-One Oil."

Many housewives who pride themselves on the spotless appearance of their homes are careless about the lubrication of hinges and locks. Try a few drops of 3-in-One Oil today and see how quickly it brings out rust and squeaks. For 3-in-One, a blend of animal, mineral and vegetable oils, is distinctly different from ordinary oil: it cleans and protects as well as lubricates.

For 35 years 3-in-One has been recognized as the best oil for sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawnmowers, hinges and general household lubrication. Insist on 3-in-One Oil. At good stores everywhere. For your protection look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package.

shrunken, still upright figure as she rose from her seat—the freedom of one whose neck has never bowed to the yoke of established custom, whose kingdom is the sun and sea and earth and air as God gave them to Adam—and when the visitors had explained their errand, and she proceeded to answer them in the soft, surly accents of the Dorset dialect, the attentive speaker seemed to convey a strange sense of uniteness.

Claire and Nick were the first to dare the oracle. The old woman beckoned to them to follow her into the cottage, while Tormarin and Jean waited outside, and when they emerged once more they were laughing, their faces eager and half excited like the faces of children promised some indefinite treat.

"She's given you luck, then?" asked Jean, smiling in sympathy.

"The gipsy interposed quickly."

"That's for me to do now, I take away the luck. But I know that, back of they gert black clouds the young lord's so mortal feared of, the zun's shinin' butlival. I tell 'ee, me dear!"

nodding encouragingly to Claire, while her keen old eyes narrowed to mere pin-points of light. "You'll see it, yourself—and afore another year's crep by. 'Ees, say! You'll know then as I telled 'ee 'trew."

Then, with a sudden gesture that summoned Jean to follow her, she disappeared once more into the interior of the hut.

Jean hesitated nervously in the doorway. For a moment she was conscious of an acute feeling of distaste for the impending interview—a dread of what this woman, whose eyes seemed the only live thing in her old, old face, might have to tell her.

"Come with me," she appealed to Blaise. And he nodded and followed her across the threshold.

The scent of a peat fire came warm and fragrant to her nostrils as she stepped out of the sunlight into the comparative dusk of the little shanty, mingling curiously with an aroma of savoury stew which issued from a black pot hung above the fire, bubbling and chucking as it simmered.

The gipsy, as though by force of habit, gave a stir to its contents and then, settling herself on a three-legged stool, she took Jean's hand in her wrinkled, claw-like fingers and peered at its palm in silence.

"Your way haint so plain to see as 'other young lady's," she muttered at last, in an odd, sing-song tone.

"There's life an' death an' fire an' flame afore yu see the sun shinin' clear."

"And if I see yu take the way 'ermin', you'll never see it."

And there'll be no post to guide 'ee. 'Tee yu awn sawl must tell 'ee how to walk through the darkness. For there's darkness comin'—black darkness."

Good Reason For Economy

A bond salesman went into a drug store the other day and ordered a plate of crackers and a glass of water. A friend who happened to be in the same store, asked him: "What's the matter, Mac? On a diet?"

"No," snapped the other. "On commission."

Inventors Keep Busy

Automatic Opener Wins Prize Of This Year's Exhibition

Double-action fly swatter—non-skidable soap-bell-ringing fishing rods—toothpaste tube collapsers—automatic oyster openers—adjustable baby feeders.

These are among the 5,000 inventions arriving at Great Central Palace for the fourth international patent exposition.

The new fly-swatter operates with a scissors movement and eliminates the possibility of spots on walls or furnishings.

The soap turns out to be a sponge-rubber mitt with a ventilated palm in which liquid is enclosed. The toothpaste tube collapsor is two rollers turned by a small crank and forces out every last drop of the paste.

One fishing rod has a bell attached and can be stuck in the ground while the angler drowns. When the fish bites the bell rings.

The automatic oyster opener is really the prize of the show. Its inventor is Oscar Abbatte, of Baltimore, Md. The device is operated by means of a crank which forces a flat, spear-shaped knife between the shells of the oyster, opening 25 minutes.

The baby feeder is merely an adjustable bottle which can be attached to the crib and never eludes the reach of the occupant.

Nights Of Agony come in the train of asthma. The victim cannot lie down, and sleep is driven from his brain. What grateful relief is the immediate effect of Dr. D. K. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. It banishes the frightful conditions, clears the passages, and enables the afflicted one to again sleep as soundly and restfully as a child. Insist on the genuine at your nearby druggist.

Britain's Youthful Peers

Thirty-Two Are Not Old Enough For House Of Lords

Britain has 32 peers who cannot take their seats in the House of Lords, because they are not of age. Many bear titles were still playing with their blocks, among them being Lord Wrexham, three, and Lord Montagu, of Beaulieu, five. Lord Gainsborough is eight, Lord Haig, son of the late British Commander, is 13. The Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, who is premier earl in the peerages of both Lord England and Scotland, is 17, as is Lord Gormanston, premier viscount of Scotland.

ACIDITY FOR 10 YEARS Before he Found the Remedy

Many people endure suffering unnecessarily. This man did. If he had known ten years ago what he knows today, he would have been spared a good deal of the acidity.—W. H.

"I feel I must write a few lines in appreciation of your Kruschen Salts. I have suffered for 10 years from chronic acidity of the stomach. I tried nearly everything, until I was advised by a friend to try Kruschen, which I have taken for the last two months, and I am pleased to say I have had no return of the acidity."—W. H. Kruschen Salts swiftly neutralizes acid, takes all the ferment out of it, and gently expels it from the system. And by stimulating your organs of elimination to perfect regular action, Kruschen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals. Kruschen will keep your inside clean and serene. Pure and invigorated blood will be sent coursing to every part of your body. You'll feel wonderfully energetic and well. As healthy and hearty as it is humanly possible to feel.

Little Helps For This Week

"Thou hast put gladness in my heart."—Psalm iv, 7.

Cheerfulness

A settled, pious merriment.

Which is not prone to grudging.

From murmuring related.

—Anne Collins.

What indeed does that word cheerfulness imply? It means a contented spirit; it means a pure heart; it means a kind loving disposition; it means humility and charity; it means a generous appreciation of others, and a modest opinion of self.

—William Makepeace Thackeray.

It is a Dutch proverb that "paint costs nothing," much as its preserving qualities in damp climates. Well, sunshine costs less, yet is finer gift; and so of cheerfulness, the more it is spent, the more of it remains.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Persian Balm—Invaluable to the whole family. To the mother, a flawless aid to loveliness. To the child a soothing, healing balm. And to the father, a splendid hair fixative and cooling shaving lotion. Persian Balm tones and refreshes the skin. Makes hands delightfully soft and white. Indispensable to dainty women. A little gentle rubbing, and it is absorbed by the tissues, making the skin truly rose-leaf in texture.

She—Why did the land agent speak of that property as a parcel?

He—Because it is tied up, I suppose.

When you CAN'T QUIT

A HEADACHE is often the sign of fatigue.

When temples throb it's time to rest. If you can't stop work, you can stop the pain. Aspirin does it, every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and carry on—in perfect comfort.

Don't wait with nerves on edge or try all day to forget some nagging pain that Aspirin will end in a jiffy! Aspirin can do you no harm; just be sure that it is Aspirin with Bayer on each tablet.

In every package you'll find proven directions for headaches, colds and sore throat; neuralgia, neuritis, etc. Carry these tablets with you, and be prepared. To block a sudden cold on the street-car; quiet a grumbling tooth at the office; relieve a headache in the theatre; spare you a sleepless night when nerves are "jumping."

And no modern girl needs "limes out" for the time of month! Your little box of Aspirin tablets is sure relief for all such pain.

Take Aspirin for any ache or pain; and take enough to end it. It can't harm you. At drug stores everywhere. Made in Canada.

Nerves A Complete Wreck Sat Up Half The Night

Mr. John Row, Bark Lake, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled so much with my nerves I was a complete wreck."

I could not do my work, and would have to sit up half the night on account of not being able to sleep.

One day a friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I used one box and got relief, and by the time I had taken six boxes I was as well as ever."

Just ONE spoonful relieves gas, sour stomach and sick headache. Let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel! J. F. CLARKE drug dist.

Building Operations.

"Millionaires' Row," on 1st St. west, is to see another palatial residence erected in its midst. Mine Host Miller, recently retired from the proprietorship of the Royal hotel, has now under construction on "The Row" a residence for himself and family. Contractor Elmer Anderson is the architect and builder.

Hansen's Corners.

The U. F. W. A. Local at Hansen's was reorganised, at a meeting held recently, and the officers and members are looking forward to many interesting meetings during the coming year. Mrs W. C. Allen, is the newly-elected secretary-treasurer, with Mrs Robert Barnes as president.

Bonus to Stallion Owners.

Members of Alberta Horse Breeders' Ass'n recently passed a resolution endorsing the proposal to pay stallion owners a fixed sum for each mare bred. The Minister of Agriculture has agreed to the plan of assistance alternative to the club system which has been in vogue.

It is agreed to pay to owners of stallions that have passed Federal inspection a grant of $5 per mare bred, up to a maximum of 50 mares.

A sworn statement will be required covering the list of names of mare owners as submitted by the stallion owner. The grant will be payable at the end of the season. The offer is for this season only.

Early Potatoes.

Experimental Farm Note: In planning for an early supply of potatoes, it is advisable:

- 1, to use an early maturing sort;
- 2, to have potatoes sprouted at time of planting;
- 3, to plant early, and
- 4, to keep potatoes well cultivated.

Experiments go to show the Early Bovee to be ready for use before either Early Ohio or Irish Cobbler. Having the sprouts on tubers at planting time shortens the time between planting and emergence of the plant.

While it is generally recommended that these sprouts should be green, yet it has been found possible to take the whole potatoes directly from the cellar with sprouts several inches long, plant these and in 2 or 3 days have green leaves showing, and good crops have resulted.

"Murfies" Are Cheap.

That the growing of potatoes by farmers in Edmonton and other districts was overdone last year is being proven now by the fact that these growers are not now receiving enough per bushel to pay the expenses of raising the spuds. An Edmonton firm which recently shipped 15 carloads to the Saskatchewan Relief Commission, sent, on another 15 cars last week. After paying for sacks and inspection, the growers claim that the $4 per ton paid at the car only netted them 8c per bu.

An Illuminated Keyhole.

Inventors have battled it. Pen like flashlights have been marketed as keyhole finding aids. Even the comic magazines have offered suggestions. Then came the automobile which added just one more phase to the problem—an ignition lock keyhole located in the most shadowy corner of the instrument panel. Thousands refused to remove the key, leaving their cars at the mercy of thieves, rather than play a losing game of hide and seek when darkness fell.

All this, however, before the Oldsmobile engineers pulled down their eye-shades, gripped their micrometers and started to grapple with the problem. Days, months, years passed; then, Eureka! The answer is found in the 1932 Oldsmobiles—they have illuminated keyholes.
